Annual Senior Play

Cast Prepares For Opening Night

How does the Class of '65- go about having fun and raising money. They give a play. Not just any play — but the most hilarious production ever to hit the stage of Appomattox High School. After the grueling try-outs a cast of thirteen talented seniors was chosen.

Jay Tabas', "Faith, Hope and Flarity" will be presented on Friday, Nov. 20, 1964 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The rollicking cast includes Guy Hesson, Joe Meggison, Lynda Statlen, Perry McCraw, Robert Garrett, Bobby Bollinger, Cynthia Richardson, Lina Trent, Anita Richardson, Susan Burke, Grey Holland, Bonnie Gilbert, and a special surprise performer

Under the very able direction of Mrs. Ivey Holland, senior sponsor, and Mrs. Roger Boughton, the cast has been rehearsing nightly in anticipation of a record turn-out.

Almost all seniors have been involved in some phase of the big production, with props, stage setting, make up, and publicity to keep them on their toes.

Now with preparations in full swing the Class of '65 looks forward to November 20th when all Appomattox will come out to see "Faith, Hope and Flarity."

Census Visits Set Nov. 16

Questionnaires for the 1964 Census of Agriculture are now being mailed out to farmers and ranchers of Appomattox county, according to Mrs. Louise S. Crawley, crew leader in charge of the census in the county.

The questionnaires are expected to reach the farmers within a few days. This will allow the farmers a period of time in which to consult their 1964 farm business records in order to answer questions on the form accurately before enumerators begin calling on individual farmers to collect the questionnaires. These visits are scheduled to start on November 16 in this county.

An enumerator will call on every farmer in the district under his supervision, the crew leader said. At the time of the call, the enumerator will help the farmer complete answers to any questions that prove difficult to understand and check the form for accuracy.

The do-it-yourself aspect of the farm census is aimed at saving time and effort.

The Census of Agriculture is taken every five years in the years ending in "4" and "9" to gather needed, up-to-date information on the nation's agricultural resources and production. Such information is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. economy. Data gathered include the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock inventory, information on farm equipment and facilities, farm products sold, and use of fertilizers, insecticides, and herbicides.

Dry Spell May Cause Delay In Hunt Season Opening

Parched woodlands brought on by the windy, balmy weather of Indian summer are creating a forest fire hazard that may force postponement of the hunting season, the state's chief forester said Monday.

85 Fires Reported

In Virginia, Dean said the recent dry weather, coupled with an outbreak of fires during the week end and the threat of rising fall winds, might make it necessary to ask the governor to close forests to hunters. About 500 acres have been destroyed in 85 fires during the past several days.

All fire towers across the state are now being manned, he added.

Throughout the state, district fire chiefs reported forest floors hazardously covered with jolly leaves and warned hikers and campers to use extreme caution with camp fires and matches.

The judge found them guilty of placing a burning cross on the property of Edward T. Johnson. Book Fair Is Coming

National Book Week, just over, leads to an exciting event in the lives of grade schoolers of Appomattox Elementary — the annual Book Fair sponord by the Elementary P-TA and the School library. First grade youngsters, above, point out that next Thursday night is THE night for parents and friends to order books for Christmas gifts and for other occasions. All grades will be looking over book selection in the library during the coming week with the actual ordering to be done during P-TA meeting. The balloons in the back, above, are being held by Michael Covington and Roger Meadows. In the second row, Scott Montgomery, Inez Austin, Samuel Wilson, Jerry White, Jackie Woody, Kathy Litchford, Nancy Hoke, and Cynthia Galliher, In the third row: Michael Tetly, Sidney Black, Ricky Ferguson, Ronald Guill, Donald Thornhill, Richard Shelton, R. B. Carter, Allen Harris, and Fayette Collier. Mrs. Lucie Staples is their teachers. Mrs. Henry Beard is the librarian. Proceeds from the Book Fair help add other books to the library.

Appomattox County parents are among the estimated 33 million parents and patrons who will visit the nation's schools this week, American Education Week Nov. 8-14.

Theme for the week is "Education Pays Dividends."

Did you know that even building a school makes money for the community? For ever $1,000 spent building a new school, 212 hours of work are created. The job requires 81 persons on the average, at least 38 of them from the local community.

For ever $100,000 put into the new school, $26,000 is returned directly to local merchants. The average school construction cost is $730,000 including $190,000 in wages to local persons—architects, engineers, truck drivers, carpenters, plumbers, and many others.

Education Pays Dividends

Education pays dividends in increased personal income. U. S. census figures show that the middleground salary for men with less than an eighth grade education was $2,090 in 1961, $3,452 for men who finished the eighth grade, $5,052 for high school graduates, $7,691 for four-year college graduates.

A U. S. Chamber of Commerce report points out that persons with a good education produce more goods, buy and consume more goods, read more, are more active in civic and national affairs, enjoy a higher standard of living tha do those less-well educated.

There are other dividends educators point out — less tangible but of possibly greater value. The schools are among the earliest teachers of acceptable human relations. From the first grade on, pupils begin to learn that they are not individuals within a group. The "loners" begin to realize that they are part of society as a whole and must get along with it. Then they are on the way to tolerance of others, and an understanding of rights in a democracy.

A good education enables the individual to find personal fulfillment in his job and during leisure time, to improve his community, to understand the widespread relations of the United States with other nations—to be, in short, a valuable citizen.

American Education Week established in 1921, is now sponsored by the American Legion, the National Education Association, the U. S. Office of Education, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.
